NOTES FROM THE PASTOR

At our first "S'More Time with Christ" campfire worship I spoke about knowing our worth and taking time to care for ourselves. The lectionary has us looking at rest and sabbath keeping for the first Sunday in June... I am seeing a common thread here. In our fast paced world it seems we have seasons where we are just trying to keep up, just trying to stay afloat. Why does it have to be this way? When will we catch a break or have time to catch our breath? The truth is the world won't stop for us so we need to make the time, take the time and shut the world out from time to time. You are not of this world, you are made for more. Your time is precious. This is your permission (if you needed it) to take a break today, take a nap, maybe, ask for help, push back a deadline. Your health, your spirit, your life is more important.
