NOTES FROM THE PASTOR

“Be aware of what season you are in and give yourself the grace to be there.” — Kristen Dalton.
“When the winds of change blow, remember... sometimes what appears dead is simply preparing for a new season.” — Jane Lee Logan. “All the trees are losing their leaves, and not one of them is worried.” — Donald Miller.

We are all in a different season of life and yet we are all in the same moment in time. We are stepping into September and this is a transitional month. It helps us mark the passing of time. The students are going back to school, the leaves are starting to change color and fall off, organizations are starting to budget for next year. The temperatures are starting to lower, the fields are settling into a season of harvest, we are getting closer to celebrating Christ's birth once more. The nights are lengthening and the cold/flu seasons are making an appearance. We laugh, we cry, we feel and know we are alive.

Life is full of seasons. But thankfully God never changes. May God meet you where you are today.
