NOTES FROM THE PASTOR

As another school year begins, let us remember that we are all in this together. Whether you have a student, or a grandchild is one, or maybe you teach students, remember that we all were once a student. Remember the joy and anxiety each new year brought, may every child know safety and may we never stop working towards a better future.

From Every Moment Holy, a source filled with beautiful liturgy, let us reflect on yet another national tragedy in this horrific shooting in Minneapolis. O God who gathers what has been scattered, shelter us now into the shadow of your wings. O Christ who binds our wounds, be our great healer. O Spirit who enters our every grief, intercede now for this hurting people, in this broken land. May our prayers be our movements forward to create safe places for all--mentally, emotionally, spiritually and physically.
