Message from Pastor Lily

Easter celebrations have always been so special to me!

My family would be finishing our homemade Easter dresses late into the night before and preparing our house for our extended family to join later into the Easter Day. Then bright and early for Easter morning we would get to church for the 5:30am service that started in the cemetery, we would sing and process into the church by candlelight.

Then by the 7:30am service we were singing loudly with the trumpeters from the local high school and the choirs joining in. Then we would gather in the fellowship hall for breakfast with the youth helping serve. Followed by an egg hunt for the children and back to worship at 10am. Then home for a feast with family.

Easter looks different these days but the story has remained the same. In the darkness of that first Easter morning something holy happened, that we will keep learning and understanding throughout our lives. May you always find light, even in the darkest night. May you aspire to live your life following Jesus even when loving is extra hard. The world needs more of the resurrection life.
